I'M JUST A MESSENGER GIRL, FOLKS!

(From Phyllis)

Dear Ones,

I love being a messenger girl. I get a word from the dear Holy Spirit and then quickly run to give it out. I have always been that "different kind of animal," so to speak, as a "little girl prophet" growing up to be a "lady prophet." My daddy, Samuel, was a real live born prophet, and I am here today as his daughter, a chip off the old Pentecostal block. You know, Pentecostal people are the most precious and peculiar people in the world- and the most misunderstood at times. We come in all shapes, colors and sizes, and I am proud to be a thoroughly "Pentecostal Phyllis."

Inside, I am still a little girl prophet who became a lady prophetess, but I'm basically just a messenger girl. I consider it a special privilege to be able to hear from the "tender heart" of the Father, and by the Holy Spirit's unction and anointing, speak prophetic words of hope and comfort to His people. I love being His messenger girl and servant. There is no other job in this whole world that I would rather have than to plant prophetic seed words of faith and hope and promise in the soil of people's hearts.

I love leaning into Him to hear for others, receiving a special delivery telegram from Heaven through the Holy Spirit and then quickly running to give it out. I love watching the Lord pick up and restore broken hearts. That's my favorite hobby.

After dedicating one's life to Jesus, we become servants. And if we live a life pleasing to the Lord, daily expressing His character by the fruits of the Spirit (love, joy, peace, patience), and keeping a clean heart motive and right spirit, the gifts of God will flow out naturally-supernaturally. After all, the gifts and the Gift are one. With Christ living in your heart, His gifts will automatically flow out of you.

Christ is you, the hope of (His) glory.
Colossians 1:27

HOOKED ON PROPHECY

You may ask how I started prophesying. I started speaking out prophetically in our own small home meetings at my parent's house. I was about sixteen. At age 28, my parents rented a storefront or had prayer meetings in a public library- and there I began to speak not only prophecy to the general group, but more personal prophetic words. I still recall the very first personal prophecy the Holy Spirit gave me to give to a dear little lady. She was so thrilled and thankful. I felt happy- she was blessed. From then on, I was hooked on prophecy for sure, seeing how it truly comforted people.

In 1968 in a small prayer group in Sacramento, California, with my Bible and autoharp to sing with, I ministered both general and personal prophetic words. I flowed out in prophecy with great joy. I was simply following closely in my father Samuel's prophetic footsteps as he had ministered to this same group a year or so before.

And now, I've been prophesying for over 50 years and still love to see the way God blesses with the prophetic word. Beloved, it's awesome-this ministry.

DON'T GO ANYWHERE WITHOUT HIS ANOINTING

Prophetic words anointed by God's Holy Spirit are creative words. They are powerfully ripe and pregnant with awesome hope and promise for one's future. It is a given that a Holy Spirit promise prompted by God's prophetic word is highly anointed. If one doesn't have or feel that prompting, perhaps one shouldn't speak! I try to make it a good, godly habit to never go anywhere to speak without that rich, heavenly Holy Spirit anointing.

Prophetic words spoken over people's lives are chuck-full of explosive power and resurrection life. They are creative words that restore, rekindle, redeem, reactivate, and rejuvenate. They are "power-packed words" and are like God's time bombs just waiting to be dropped off to explode out in one's life in God's appointed time. Our God most definitely has His own time agenda and seasons for His prophetic time bombs to come and to explode out into our spiritual ministries.

The prophetic word given correctly over people's lives gives them a clearer and dearer confirming vision. Prophetic words are powerfully packed with love, healing and comfort, thus revealing God's nature and character to everyone who hears that word. Prophetic words give grace and endless mercies to the lost, forsaken, brokenhearted and backslidden. The prophetic word should be so full of love and God's forgiveness that it fills up a person's cup up to overflowing. I always say, "With a spoonful of sweet sugar, a hard word (like medicine for the spirit) goes down easier."

Prophetic words won't tear people down, but rather build up, edify, heal body, mind, soul and spirit. Prophetic words of comfort satisfy the longing need of the lonely heart to hear from God's heart and feel God's absolute love for them that they are most special. Through prophecy, they hear the Father say, "I love you, My Child." These are the most valuable words a prophet could convey anytime, anywhere, to anyone.

HELP PEOPLE TO HEAR FROM GOD FOR THEMSELVES

Many people have ears, but they don't hear for themselves (with spiritual ears), so you must help them hear from God through your human voice speaking prophetically. Then you teach and help them to hear from God for themselves. I often say: The prophet plugs in the "hearing aid" of the Holy Spirit so that they may hear from God for themselves.

My sheep know My voice and will follow no other.

So we must all learn to hear His voice so we can obey His leading to follow Him only. While on earth, Jesus listened only to the voice of His Father- to do His Father's will. This pleased His Father greatly.

HOLY SPIRIT IS A PERSON

You know, Beloved, the Holy Spirit is not just a pleasant breeze or goose bumps! He is REAL PERSON with a REAL MESSAGE. You are His voice speaking. He gives you WORDS OF TRUTH. God will not only give you His words to speak, but the PROPER TIME AND PROPER PLACE AND METHOD in which to deliver His message. This is the key for profitable prophetic ministering. Ladies and Gentlemen, learn how to prophesy in HIS TIMING.

HOLY SPIRIT GOES BEFORE US

The Holy Spirit going before us will usually prepare a person's heart-ground, soaking it with His Spirit before we go to plant a prophetic "seed-word promise." So it behooves us also to soak our own mind and heart and spirit in His anointing before we go out to speak for God. Otherwise, prophecy could come from our own heart's good advice. We must covet to prophesy and speak only His words.

WHAT IS THE PROPHET'S PHYSICAL AND MENTAL PREPARATION BEFORE GOING OUT TO MINISTER?

Create in me a new heart, O God, filled with clean thoughts and right desires. Sprinkle me with the cleansing blood, wash me and I shall be whiter than snow. Psalm 51:7, 10

Before going out to a small luncheon or large Church meeting, I often found I had to prepare my total self. I would stand and soak in my shower, talking story with the Lord. I'd say to myself: These waters pouring all over my person are symbolic like the cleansing blood of Jesus washing over me. I cried out, "Oh, Lord, wash me from head to foot. Wash and cleanse my mind, wash my mouth, my eyes, my heart, soul, and spirit. Forgive me all my sins, Oh, God, all the ones I know about and all the ones I've forgotten. I put all things under Your blood, Lord, that I might be clean and whole in You. Let no bitterness or wrath be found in my mouth. Lord, I want clean hands and a clean heart so I can be a clean mouthpiece for Your Spirit to flow through.

I cry out like crazy (like it was my first time to go out and minister His holy prophetic words), Lord, don't leave me. Anoint my lips and mouth. I can do nothing without You. You have never failed me- though I have failed You many times. Thank You, Lord, for always coming through to fill my mouth with good words. You always keep Your word with me, Lord, and I appreciate it.

I HAD DONE MY VERY BEST

I had done my very best to obey God and just be an empty vessel He could pour through, to be God's handmaiden, messenger girl, ladylike servant. I cannot take any credit for His good words. It is only He who speaks through me. We must all ask to do only the will of our Father. Father, help me! With earnestness of heart, I desire to speak more and more like You.

TOTALLY SPOILED

Dear ones, I am so totally spoiled and want only God's anointed words of prophecy- words that are drenched and dripping with His sweet anointing. Prophetic words from His Spirit should drip with a heavenly anointing. If they don't drip with His heavy, heavenly anointing, I pray we don't even speak them.

SATAN'S NASTY HECKLING

Satan started this nasty heckling when I was just a budding prophetess of 18, and as I grew older and married with kids, he'd try the same stunt- only, in a different way- like my children or dear husband would get really funny on me, edgy or weird even though they were in agreement with my leaving for ministry that night. Satan wanted me to leave all "unwired" in God. He wanted to ruin my peace of mind. I just learned how to clean up my mad, bad and sad feelings and renewed my mind and started all over again in the car on the way.

Remember that we are in a constant battle- especially before and after ministry meetings. Expect it- then when the "nasties" from Satan strike, you can handle it and laugh. Then the Lord would come and strengthen my spirit, heart and mind- and I'm sure a dozen angels came into my little car. I'd settle down in my spirit because I knew I had completely given myself over to His dear Holy Spirit to do His work through me.

GOD LOVES OUR UNIQUENESS

God loves our uniqueness and He wants us to just be ourselves having our own sweet, gentle, yet strong spirits and personalities. He created us all so differently for His own purposes and pleasures.

SATAN LOVES TO STICK IT TO THE MESSENGER

This generally happens to you just before you go home for your well-earned rest. You've ministered your heart, soul, and spirit out and you're still elated from God's anointing upon you. But you're tired and drained physically and emotionally.

So we must all learn to hear His voice so we can obey His leading to follow Him only. While on earth, Jesus listened only to the voice of His Father- to do His Father's will. This pleased His Father greatly.

YES I'M OUT OF THE CLOSET

Today, I can boldly say I am a prophetess at age 77. Although I shared my first public prophecy at age 18, I never called myself a prophetess. I was only a lady who prophesied a lot.

After six years of radio and some nine years as TV hostess of my "Heartlight" show here in Hawaii, I knew I had tasted something of being a TV evangelist. I loved TV. I was first ordained at Light of Hope on November 26, 1996 by Pastors Steve and Fay Johnson, then again by Archbishop Ashe in November 2002 at Pacific Revival Center as a prophetess.

Then just lately, I heard the Lord whisper softly into my heart, "Phyllis, you're a shepherdess- go feed My sheep". I never felt like I was a pastor type (that's hard work), but I recall what a local pastor said to me, "Phyllis, you have a TV flock who watch you". And then I thought of my daddy, Samuel the Prophet, and how people always said my daddy had a shepherd's heart, though he was a true prophet.

Daddy passed his prophetic mantle down to me just before he died; and perhaps, I have a wee bit of a pastor's heart- as I love to gather the sheep together and feed the lambs.

I prefer not to be called "Reverend". It's a religious handle that doesn't seem to fit my personality; but call me a lady prophetess, that's OK because I've given (by the precious Holy Spirit's unction) hundreds of personal prophetic tapes these past 42 years in Hawaii, plus 1 year in California. I have run into people who happily say, "Remember, you prophesied that word to me- well, it came to pass". I smile and say, "Oh, praise God! He is faithful". The proof is in the prophetic pudding- so I'm out of the closet and answer to being a lady prophetess.

The Lord has graciously allowed me to minister to the five-fold ministry people, and I think I understand a little bit of their great heart call and deeply respect their tremendous labors of love to minister. Prophetess Jean Dannell spoke prophetically over me that I would bless the pastors and their wives and their lives. Cindy Jacobs prophesied I would go to those in high society where there is much need for knowing a living Savior like our Jesus.

I am drawn to the poor, broken-hearted, and lost- people in all sad conditions. God has allowed me to meet them at the crossroads of their lives to speak words of comfort. Like all ministers, I am happiest when I am ministering God's love and mercy.

Dear Pastor Gideon Chiu, Senior Pastor of the Church of Zion gave me these words that encouraged and blessed my little prophetic heart.

Pastor Chiu said, "You are a very accurate prophet", relating to the personal prophetic word I had given him by the Spirit over his family. Pastor Chiu prayed a legion of angels be about me and my ministry. Thank you, dear Pastor. Pastor's wife, May said, "Like Samuel, you will place priestly garments on people". Another young man prophesied years ago I'd be like Samuel, confirming the pastor's wife's words. Neither parties prophesying over me knew my daddy's name was Samuel, and that my daddy had passed his prophetic mantle down to me before he went home to Heaven.

GENTLE, LOVING TOUCH

I believe the prophetic ministry God gave me is to be one of a loving, gentle, revealing touch. If God someday decides to give me a judgmental ministry, people who know my normal spiritual mode of love will recognize that it must be from God, for it is not Phyllis' Pollyanna spiritual nature. Phyllis would rather switch than fight. However, I have never backed down if demons appeared on the scene. I know my God-given right and my authority in Jesus' name through the blood and power of His Holy Spirit to cast them out!

ALL PEOPLE ARE SENSITIVE

This I know- all people, saints or sinners are sensitive to getting hurt feelings. If you say you're not sensitive, that means you really are sensitive. I like to treat others like I'd want to be treated- carefully and prayerfully with thought as to not hurt. Then when the Lord does speak through you to chastise, they know it's not from you. You're not out to judge them, but it's from the Lord's Spirit. Remember, you get back the same mercy from God that you show and give to others. Be merciful so you can receive mercy. Heaven knows we all need more mercy and less judgment- Amen?

GO GENTLY AT A SLOWER PACE

When we are called up to go into an Intensive Care Unit or Emergency Room at the hospital, who do we take with us? By this, I mean- while driving and even walking into that situation, do we take the time to quiet ourselves down, shut out the anxiety attack that is so near? Do we immediately pray: Oh, Lord, take over, Lord. You go with me now into this unknown situation. Quiet my spirit down and put Your words into my mouth in this place of intensive care".

There is so much noise of wounded souls going on with loud intensity, exploding all around me. Lord, let me have Your special gift of Peace and Your Presence. Let me be strong in peace, let me major in Your peace. Let it shine out of my entire body to all I am about to meet. "My peace I give you", Jesus said, "So take it, Beloved one, take My peace and give it out". And later, upon visiting that one before surgery or after, before entering into their world now filled with suffering, fear and anxiety, do we again say, "Be still, oh my soul and settle down, gird up my loins, Lord with Your peace once more".

Let me walk in gently with love and concern, but leave pity behind. Don't ever give them a "pitiful" look. It's so easy to do; and please, walk in softly, but carry a big sense of the Lord's Spirit with you. His Presence goes before you and will remain with you. And if you tune your ear to His Spirit, He'll tell you what to say, how to smile, even how to look into their eyes.

Beware, Beloved, when people are ill, their minds don't function like ours. They're sometimes paralyzed with fear and anxiety. We don't walk in with fear, but with peace, power, love and a sound mind.

THE WISDOM THAT COMES FROM HEAVEN ABOVE

Let Heaven fill your thoughts. Be pure, full of quiet gentleness, peace loving, courteous, willing to yield to others, merciful, doing good deeds, whole-hearted, straight forward, and sincere.

PLEASE LORD, LET ME LEARN...by Phyllis

...How to keep "in step" with others'
So we can walk together easily;
...How to slow down with the weaker walker,
To take smaller steps, one at a time.

...How to keep in pace in the race
With those who have God's vision
...How to move in quick, sure steps with them
As the Lord leads us together.

...How to step gently
With those recovering or grieving,
Speaking less words with more meaning.

...How to walk in a gentler pace
The pace of a hurting mind
And a wounded soul.

Teach me each new person's unique
"Pace and place" in life
As I trip along in my own merry way.

Teach me, Holy Spirit, how to keep in step-
Not to go too fast, nor lag behind
But to make myself "hit their pace" and Yours
And walk with them through their lives gently
A step at a time.

ARE YOU CALLED TO BE A PROPHET OR PROPHETESS?

If it is a joy unspeakable to speak healing words of comfort, words that bring health and deliverance, healing words that edify the Body, and encouraging words that help build a nurture the Body of Christ, then you're a prophet.

Dear Ones, I pray we follow my favorite verse that says: Let us esteem others highly in love for their work's sake. I Thessalonians 5:13 Come let us love one another. Let us go out together as prophets, apostles, pastors, evangelists, and teachers as one great heart to pray for the hurting ones out there. And pray for all ministries to "grow up" and come into the fullness of their call by the dear Holy Spirit's guidance and power. I just want to be a yielded open mouthpiece to speak His words for His glory- don't you?

TO HAVE A PROPHETIC CALL FROM GOD IS NOT EASY

Bearing six children- five by natural birth, was painful- but giving spiritual birth to a prophetic ministry as a budding young woman prophetess was, at times, just as painful.

Learning to operate in the prophetic call is never easy. In those early years, there were no schools for prophets as there are now. You came up the hard way- bit by bit, word by word. It was even harder to follow a prophetic call if you were a woman. The prophetic call was not an "understood calling". In fact, it was a very unusual and peculiar call. There was a lack of acceptance of this ministry in my early years- the 50's and 60's.

A PROPHET'S WALK IS HARD WORK

A prophet's walk is not the easiest. Sometimes when the Lord shows me someone's call is to be a prophet, I'm not always excited to tell them. It's hard word! I also knew it was better for me (as a women prophetess) to be covered, settled, and in a home church- and to be there as often as I could. (My husband Joe and I traveled a lot)

It is also important to keep my own home life as clear and as clean as possible. It's tough work to be a prophetess, but I cherish this mantle that my daddy passed down to me.

NO SUCH THING AS AN "INSTANT PROPHET"

There's no such thing as an "instant prophet" like when one pours water into instant coffee and there- you have coffee. A prophet's walk is not easy.

SIMMER, DON'T BURN UP

More often than not, you have been "simmering" on the back burner for many years. Notice, I didn't say "burning" on the back burner. There's a difference. We need to keep this "stuff of prophecy" hot, but not burning on the back burner of our ministry stove. Usually, one has been simmering on God's back stove burners for some time- just don't burn up- as you sit there patiently.

Some prophets become terribly upset when they are cut off or not allowed to minister their gift of prophecy. They tend to burn up with resentment. This happens all the time. It's testing time for the prophet to stay loving, forgiving those who speak out in ignorance, or misunderstanding.

God will see to it that you come up to the front as you wait for His cooking timer "to ring". He knows when you're ready to be served to His people. Beloved, throw out the burnt offerings and clean off your stove burner. Start all over again. You have a place in the Church and in the Body of Christ. It's just a matter of patiently simmering on the back burner until your prophetic soup is just right and people are hungry enough to want to taste it for themselves. And I promise you, your time will come. You'll get into your prophetic soup soon enough! Then more soup testing and tasting to get it all just right.

Prophets, just like singers, don't become amazing singers overnight. There are usually 10-15 years of hard work done in the wings first, and practice, practice, and practice until they appear. It just seems to us who are watching that they are instant successes overnight.

I knew what the prophetic call meant. I had to “walk my walk” and “talk my talk”- and at the same time, walk God’s walk and talk God’s talk. I never wanted to speak an unfruitful word or lead anyone into error or confusion. I was afraid of being stoned by the unkind words of people later. I value this awesome prophetic mantle. When I go to minister (speak for the Lord), I go out with great awe and reverence, and fear to please God.

HE CAN BLOW NEW LIFE INTO OLD DREAMS

As I was driving home in the cool of the Hawaiian evening with my side window open, I was thinking of all the dreams and ideas the Spirit of the Lord was pouring out to me about a new television show, and I was frustrated because these visions were burning in my spirit. I felt like Jeremiah who spoke: “The Word of the Lord was like a fire burning within- and he could not hold it back”. I could see by the Spirit the need to put this new show together, and so many signs seemed to confirm this.

Pain often comes with this prophetic calling. I was feeling the pain of unfulfilled dreams of God. Mike Bickel says, “When growing in the prophetic ministries, one seems to have more disappointments with God than the average person”. They often see clearly how things should be or how God plans them to be, but they have to wait by faith for a longer time because they have seen farther ahead. Their expectations are typically higher and they are more deeply disappointed.

Hope deferred makes the heart sick. Proverbs 13:12

I shared many of these visions with others, thinking they were better suited to do it than I was- the vision of the television healing center, the coffee and book and craft stores in the mall that were combined with ministries and business- music, food, and books- all in one store, and now, this two-hour television show I felt burning in my bones- a show I desperately believed in. People would say, "Phyllis, you are crazy to even think of a two-hour show! How can the people's interest be kept?" But I could see it all so clearly- the Holy Spirit's direction as He gave me the subject matter and even the song title.

As I kept driving, I contemplated these dreams, old and new, and the dream of my husband coming into God's plan for himself- after waiting 45 years for him to join me (I longed for Joe to join my church and minister together with him), I felt an awful heartache of past dreams dreamt, but unfulfilled. How long I had been waiting for them to come to pass. I was heartsick! In my mind I said in disgust as I looked out my open car window, "I will just toss it all out to the wind". This, of course, is an expression used by someone who lets go and tosses everything out to fly into the wind to be blown far away from them for good.

TOSS IT INTO THE WIND- UNFULFILLED DREAMS AND VISIONS

The wind blows where it wishes, and you hear the sound of it but cannot tell where it comes from or where it goes, so is everyone who is born of His Spirit.

John 3:8

"Not by my own might or by my own power can I work things out but by allowing His Spirit to bring things into being" as Benny Hinn said in his paper, "Celebrate Jesus", the article "Wind of the Spirit",

Volume 5, #2, page 9. Through the Book of Acts, incredible things took place in the lives of these saints because they were carried along by the MIGHTY WIND OF THE SPIRIT.

So I emptied my heart out, and by faith, tossed everything to the Holy Spirit's Wind, letting Him have all and letting Him blow them in every which way, never knowing where or when or how anything of my dreams would end up. By faith, Father, I will wait on You.

And now I say, "Holy Spirit wind, blow upon me and cause me to blow into Your perfect will that every dream from God's Spirit will come to pass in Your timing, not mine". So be it, my friend, let us- by faith, toss all our unfulfilled dreams and visions into the MIGHTY WINGS of His dear Holy Spirit, while you and I remain in the cloud of His glorious presence, resting peacefully in the eye of every storm cloud that prophets often feel they are in.

Peace be unto you, dear one, as you go and blow along the way with the Holy Spirit wind to wait for all your precious dreams and visions to come to pass. They will, in His time, Beloved. When God gives the vision, He will bring the provision. It will come to pass as He is a God of His word.

I have always loved being around people I could fly my vision with. They could see it, understand it, and even help me to do it. My friend, Rosalie, saw the vision of this book and helped me fly it along with many other precious people who came aboard later to fit "this jigsaw puzzle" of my book together.

My deepest thanks to God and to them for their help. Waiting to see the vision come into reality is sometimes interminably hard. It takes years- 12 years in fact; so don't give up. The Lord can and will blow your ship vision in.

I love you, Phyllis

GOING TO THE HOSPITAL- GO AT GOD'S PACE, WALK GENTLY, SOFTLY, SMILE WARMLY, AND CARRY A BIG BIBLE

When we enter into a quiet hospital room to visit a patient, consider how we should enter into their room of recovery. As we enter into the hospital corridors, do we begin to quiet ourselves down into a gentler spirit with a clear frame of mind? Is there a soft smile on our lips, gentleness in our eyes?

Hurting people think and feel differently than people out in the normal pace of life. They can't always keep up with our quick retorts, fast talk of worldly life. Sometimes our fast-pacing words boggle their minds; and truly, they wish we'd get on with it or just leave. As we talk to the Holy Spirit, He will show us how to slow down into that one's pace and to just smile more and hold their hand and only stay if they request it. Stop, look, and listen!

If they're suffering, feel it with them, be cheerful but not overly cheerful and listen and look and pick up on their pace. Leave the world's pace outside until they can handle it. Pray beneath our breath, or out loud if they wish. I've been there and done that and the Lord will always show you how to pray.

If one is terminally ill, pray and sing a song they love with them if you know they're going to God. Make sure they know Jesus. Often times I know someone already has one foot in Heaven and their face is absolutely radiant in God, so I then speak with family members around the bed. They need the comfort and salvation. Every bedside manner is different, so we have to count on heavily and heavenly on the Holy Spirit's guidance.

The first time our prayer group prayed around my kitchen table for someone's healing in the hospital, they died at the exact time we prayed. I felt discouraged, but I found this was all in God's perfect will. The person was saved and total healing is to go home to Jesus- and had he lived in the bad state he was in, there were no relatives to care for him. So Jesus took him home.

Then there was the case of the young man I visited in the Intensive Care Unit. He couldn't speak; his eyes were closed. I knew his grandma couldn't afford to come over from the Mainland, so I went and said to him, "I'll be your grandma for now, Dear; and Dear, won't you just say these words in your minds as I speak, "Dear Jesus, come into my heart, forgive my sins. All right, dear young man, if you said these words in your heart, you've received Jesus and you have the gift of eternal life with Christ Jesus". All I could see were tears beginning to stream down those closed eyes and the nurse came and said this was the only sign they'd seen in this young man's demeanor since he came in. Only God knows what he saw in those precious moments, I pray he saw Jesus as he died some days later.

Because I, myself have been down and very low in Spirit and heavily drugged after a very big operation on my hips, I do have a little understanding of how one feels in a hospital bed; and Beloved one, gentle talk, sweet songs, and signs of mercy mean so much to the one recovering.

Don't overload people with a lot of useless words. Here's a perfect time you can let the Holy Spirit guide you. Bring bright flowers- let them speak for you. Bring comforting prayers; but never, never bring your Christmas cards to be addressed as someone did to me. Please, I don't need that kind of diversion. Thanks, but no thanks!
Phyllis

"PHYLLIS, DON'T TAKE ALL THE BLAME OR PRAISE

My mama used to say to me, "Phyllis, don't take all the blame on yourself, and don't take all the praise. Just stay balanced". So I say to all you dear blooming prophets: Get smart. Don't allow Satan to throw you off balance. In my heart, I knew I did my best trying to be God's handmaiden, messenger girl, and lady servant. I cannot take credit for any of the good words. It is only the Holy Spirit who speaks through me. We must ask to do only the will of our Father and Lord with an earnestness of heart and with his help, desire to speak more and more like our Father, in heaven.

So, go Guy, go Girl, go out and prophesy in the name of the Lord God Most High, and enjoy God's holy prophetic words as they flow out to bless others and heal their minds and bodies. You will get a heavenly addiction to bless others. This is a good thing.

THE GIFT OF CRITICISM

I think it's wonderful to have an optimistic outlook in your personality and not be inclined to render quick judgments. My mom and I knew of an older woman who claimed to be a seasoned prophetess, but was known throughout all the Christian community as one whose words brought only judgment and death. She must have had a "gift of criticism" as she never left any life behind her. Wherever she went, she laid a person out and autopsied them with her critical words.

My mom and I were grieved that a woman so gift was so bent-out-of-shape in her prophetic anointing. She may have been very hurt by others; and unknowingly, held on with an embittered heart. I don't think Mom and I could have changed her mindset. She was sure she was always right. None of us are always right. If a prophet claims to always be right and never makes a mistake- stay away from them.

Beloved, was that A TRUE SPIRIT OF LOVE- OR A GIFT OF CRITICISM WORKING THROUG HER? We must first judge ourselves in the Lord; look at our own spirits. Yes, the Bible teaches us to die daily to ourselves by our own hands spiritually, but we are not here to kill each other off daily, scripturally speaking.

"HONEY, YOU DON'T LOOK PRETTY"

"Honey", my mama spoke to me at age 28, when you get up in church service to give a prophetic message to the whole church, your face just doesn't look pretty or feminine, but always serious and stressed." (I've seen that pained look on many face who were about to give a prophecy.)

I replied, "Mama, when I'm prompted to get up to prophesy- first, I'm a little scared and feel pressured to make sure I speak at the right time; and Mama, I don't even know if I'm a man or woman at that time. I'm so lost in God's Spirit, I just let go and let God speak through me." (Can't blame Mama for wanting her girl to look sweet) However, I never recalled a pained look on my prophet daddy Sam's face. He had such loving compassion. It takes years of experience to prophesy to a large crowd of thousands. It is scary- and I'm still not acquainted with general prophecies in large crowds this year 2008. But that tiny TV camera doesn't scare me a bit. Actually, I'm more comfortable taping a live TV "Heartlight Show" than speaking to large audiences. We prophetic people are funny odd birds.

WE DO NOT WORK GOD OR THE PROPHET!

Many years ago, a very young man evangelist demanded from me a written letter of prophecy every week. I was prophetically very young and also felt obligated because he had encouraged my prophetic call and stood up for me, so I submitted to his request. Each week, I gave him about three pages of words from the Lord, but I knew after some time that the Lord was moving me to have this young man learn to hear God's voice for himself.

The Lord was jealous to have this young man learn to depend on Him alone and not on my prophetic stream. I finally got wise and wrote to him telling him "no more prophecies." I would no longer be giving him a prophetic word each week. The young man got exceedingly upset and state to me that he needed this word from God each week, and only I could give it. I wrote back again letting him know that not every word I wrote to him could be coming from the Lord and I could be speaking out of my own heart because of the pressure to please him, so I would not continue. I knew God wanted me to help him plug in his own heavenly hearing aid and learn to hear the Word of the Lord for himself.

NEVER BE CONTROLLED BY THE DEMANDS OF OTHERS

Dear one, if anyone demands that you speak words into their lives; that is a spirit of manipulation or control. We do not work God. God works through us. He works through a clean, empty vessel, completely yielded to God's heart. So dear one, let us plug in our own "hearing aid" and hear God speak to us in His time and His way, and never be controlled by the demands of men and women.

We don't manipulate God. God doesn't even know the word "manipulation" because we are free spirits with free wills. And we don't manipulate the prophets either, folks.

You know, of course you cannot turn God on and off like a light switch. Some people think as a seasoned prophetess you are always "turned on" and can immediately give a word. They almost expect it!

Even Kathryn Kuhlman said only when she was under the anointing did miracles happen; and if you happened to meet her on the way to the grocery store, do not expect anything from her. I find when I least expect it, God will give me a word for someone when they did not even ask for it.

PROPHETS SHOULD NOT MANIPULATE A PROPHECY TO COME TO PASS

Prophets should not be in the business of meddling or manipulating. Often times, I have seen women prophets manipulate with strong hands in pretty soft velvet gloves. I tend to shy away from any kind of manipulating or domineering women. I feel it is wrong to dominate over a man or husband or a pastor. In my book, it is simply not womanly! I love being a woman. I do not want a man's job in the ministry!

STRONG WORDS GIVEN WITH GREAT CARE

One time I gave a woman a prophetic word to her absent husband on her recorder. The next night she came back saying, "Phyllis, my husband kept accusing me of telling you everything, and I vowed I never said a word to you about him." So strong was that word- and correct! The Holy Spirit had read his mail.

A seasoned prophet learns to discern what and when to speak a word of correction or a word of warning. Plus, they learn how to take people aside privately to spare them any humiliation personally. And they prepare their minds before judging righteously. Frankly, I don't like giving hard words. The Lord has to really unction that kind of word because I don't like to cause anyone pain or hard feelings.

"Strong words" must be given with great love. Experience teaches mature prophets to stop and think and ask questions of the Spirit like: Is this person ready for this word? Are they physically or spiritually prepared for this very strong word? Are they under medication that can hinder the word from being effective? Can they handle this word at this time? They must always wait and check to see if this strong utterance is from the Lord's Spirit. In small groups, one is able to do this. One has more time to do "heart healing"- heal their broken heart with patient, strong words.

SPRITUALLY STONED WITH VERBAL WORDS

I never wanted to speak an untruthful word or lead anyone into error or conclusion. I was afraid of being stoned by the unkind words of people later. I value this awesome prophetic mantle. When I go to minister (speak for the Lord), I go out with great awe and reverence.

As a young girl growing up in a very spiritual Pentecostal community, I had read in the Old Testament where prophets of old spoke prophetic words which didn't come to pass and they got physically stoned. So I was always afraid of being "spiritually stoned" with harsh, verbal words if I ever spoke amiss. After other people's meetings, I'd heard people speak out hard on the other ministries and really stoned them almost to death, so-o-o I didn't want to hear words like: Well, you missed it, God, or Are you sure that was really a word from the Lord? I was very sensitive, always tender-hearted to follow the Lord's leading.

I sought not to grieve the dear Holy Spirit or hurt another person's tender spirit. My motto was what I often heard my daddy, Samuel the prophet speak prophetically, "Come forth and comfort My people." That was my daddy's style too, to comfort God's people.

In the past, while ministering to 80-100 people in one meeting, each receiving a 3-5 minute tape, I'd get real tired over a 5-hour period. I had to stop, take sips of water, sing a song, or sit and teach for a while and many times ask the audience to pray for me to "recharge my spiritual prophetic batteries." (I don't do this anymore since I've hit the 70's. It's too hard on me physically)

WATCH OUT, PROPHETS

Sometimes it's God's will for some not to receive words, but for them to only be glad that others are ministered to; and sometimes, I believe God just plain wants them to "plug" into Him and hear a word from Him for themselves. As I've said, it's really the job of the prophet to plug you into hearing God's voice for yourself. No one has to run all the time to get a word from the prophets.

I can remember in Montana, I spoke at the morning Aglow meeting to 70 individual women prophetically. Then that night, many more people just seemed to flow endlessly into the night services for a word. My mouth quit, my lips swelled up, and I felt like I had talked them off. I felt much compassion and sympathy for the people who had come a long way just to get a word from the Lord and did not want anyone to go home disappointed, not hearing a word from the Lord. I still have a problem with leaving the meeting and not ministering to everyone waiting. I found it was good to say that those waiting there turned to listen to other's prophecies, taking the word seriously as it may be a word of encouragement for them also. Many people told me they received blessings by taking another person's spoken word.

As I am in my 70's, I am seriously asking the Lord not to bring me more than 15-20 people into my ministry every Friday night. Maybe someday I'll have enough courage to say, "Okay, I'm tired, you all come back for your prophetic words next week. I'm going home."

Even in my early 30's, as I was ministering alongside a dear pastor to a long line of folks at the altar, the pastor stopped me and said, "Phyllis, you are getting tired and you are getting this prophecy wrong." "Yes Sir." I stopped immediately. (You can get that way after 30-40 people) So I stopped and we all prayed together and the Lord renewed my strength and the anointing flowed again and I got right back on line.

So be careful. Rest up well before ministry; do not overdo. Yes, we can make mistakes. Only Jesus is perfect and we do learn a lot from our mistakes. We learn about the spirit of humility and our total dependence on Him. Remember the word, quench not the Spirit, despise not prophesying, prove all things and hold fast to that which is true. There can be mistakes made. Test and prove and confirm all prophecy and hold fast to that which is true. Set other things aside on the shelf if you don't understand them just now.

WHEN THEY LINED UP, THE ANOINTING LIFTED

I felt in some of my luncheon meetings when I prepared to prophesy to people and they started to line up for a word of prophecy (in the old-fashioned way), the anointing lifted. As soon as everyone sat down, I could look out in the audience over a particular table and feel the Spirit stir a word to give each one at that table. We must wait on His leading, His Spirit and hear Him and follow His lead and be obedient to speak and act as He leads.

THIS PLEASES THE FATHER, for then we are following after Jesus' lifestyle. He did nothing but what He heard the Father say to do. He always did the will of His Father. We have to hear the dear Holy Spirit, to help us hear and do the will of Jesus and His Father. We are blessed to be able to ask the Holy Spirit how do I do this so we won't do it wrong. He will always guide us into all truth.

If you're a prophet, the words you speak prophetically must confirm and ring true- and come to pass. So one must lean heavily on the breast of Jesus to hear His heart and listen closely as the Holy Spirit seeks to guide us. Sometimes I think I'm so simple. I just hear Him speak and do whatever He says. After all, He (the Holy Spirit) is at work in us, helping us to obey what God asks us to do so we've got it made! If we'll only listen, we'll learn to hear His voice and follow only His voice. Practice, practice, practice!

AFTER MINISTRY, PEOPLE, DON'T FORGET TO PRAY FOR THE PROPHET

It's very heartwarming when the pastor and leaders and congregation pray for you after you've ministered your heart out. It's important to just get "hugs" and love, and not "Oh, give us more words, please." We are only human and get very tired. We all need rest after long hours of teaching and prophetic ministry.

After the meeting, the prophet just needs someone to lead them around to have some food and water and then drive them home. Watch out for that one who comes up to you after you've finished and says, "Oh please, please", begging, "Just give this one a word." "Please I beg of you; if you're really a friend of the prophetic minister, don't force them to operate when they're tired. They could make a mistake. Don't push God's vessel. Remember, when one is tired, it's easier to speak words out of one's heart instead of words out of the Lord's heart. Seek to speak only for Him, and before you minister, empty yourself out and always seek to excel in love and be a good servant. You can't miss, dear one.

Above all, God, help us to be good listeners- to hear the Lord's voice and also hear the heart cry of others. Sometimes, all it takes to heal a broken heart is to listen to the broken heart and speak a little.

SPIRITUAL WATERING HOLES IN THE DESERT

COKE IS NOT THE ONLY DRINK THAT REFRESHES!

Coke is not the only drink that refreshes. There is no more satisfying drink in this world than a drink of God's pure, sweet water from a clean watering hole. Yes, be in Church, Beloved every time the doors are open, but visit a "watering hole" midweek to keep your life flowing: For out of your belly shall flow "rivers of Living Waters" to heal the nation. Get ready, Beloved, to give every person requiring a drink from you.

Wherever God's people come together to kind of hang out... inside or outside the Church doors, you might call that a watering hole, that three or thirty people come to...to refresh themselves in the middle of the week.

I think it's more than a prayer meeting or intercessory group of Bible teaching. It's more of a deep well of counsel with springs of water with the signs and wonders of God's spontaneous gifts flowing- gift of salvation, inner heart healing, prophecy, and physical healing- all done because people are thirsty for the "real thing" now.

It's kinda like a water hole in Africa where creatures of all kinds come to drink to sustain life. They have respect for one another. It doesn't matter what type of animal they are- big bucks or buffalo or lions to the smallest creatures- fawns, birds. They all come away from their secure place to drink heartily from streams of living waters that flow down daily from Heaven's Throne Room into that "Living Waters" watering hole. It is a spring of life that sustains and satisfies a thirsty world. And they're springing up everywhere, Folks.

PURE WATERING HOLES ARE SCARCE

We come together because there are spiritual "doubts" and drought, and pure whole water holes are scarce. Here they learn to respect one another's space, giving room to others who wish to come and drink. Here the strangest creatures come to drink at the edge of the hole or just sit and soak in the cool waters of the Holy Spirit till their hearts are satisfied. God is opening up thousands of watering holes today.

This is what revival is all about- pools of refreshing waters come up out of dry desert places and all the creatures- the weak, the lost, the hot and tired and thirsty come to drink in the cool of the evening.

Perhaps God has spoken to your heart to open up your own watering hole for folks to come to drink. Please don't put barbed wire around to keep certain people out. Let them all come freely to drink at their own choosing. Let all come who thirst after righteousness. Come, for they shall be filled.

WATERING HOLES ARE NOTHING NEW TO ME

My parents found places to rent: libraries, empty store fronts, or our home to be a mid-week watering hole. My own kitchen table was a local hole in Kaneohe, Hawaii for 6 years (all under my Pastor's loving care). Those watering holes broke out into "breakfasts" and "luncheons" at Waikiki hotels. Then my watering hole got bigger. I proceeded to give out "Living Waters" on radio and television. Mine was a prophetic watering hole. Others may have "teaching" or "intercessory prayer" watering holes, but my little pool was salvation, inner healing, and prophecy.

When revival broke out in Hawaii, I found water holes broke out in homes around the University campus. Every night students would meet at a different "watering hole" in someone's home. There God met them and revival sprang out into the Church thereafter. A whole "herd of people" of all kinds in the 70's, the hippy movement, Jesus movement- even kids came.

In the year 2003, I had a real peculiar watering hole. It was a 24-hour coffee house. There we'd go in to have a meal or a bit for at least $5.00 for coffee and dessert to pay for the back room and we'd all enjoy that wonderful thing of eating together - physical and spiritual food. My friend counted over 1500 people that came to the café over the year and a half.

KNOWING THE VOICE

I know when I speak out on Live Television, there's no taking back that wrong word I spoke. I could easily ruin my television ministry by being mentally and verbally slipshod and letting words just slip out carelessly. Learning how to know and discern His Holy Spirit voice and my own spirit's voice and then the enemy's voice is very important to succeed in one's ministry and in one's life. I had to learn how to engage my brain and fill it up with God's right words before shooting off my mouth- not an easy chore for me, folks. As a prophet, I speak a lot and I think prophets are the "mouth" of the body of Christ. We are very responsible for all our words. I pray: Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable, oh Lord, My God, in Your sight.

WHOSE VOICE WILL WE LISTEN TO AND FOLLOW? THREE DISTINCT VOICES

There are three voices we hear for sure- our own voice (like our own conscience), then the Holy Spirit's voice that prompts us, and also our enemy, Satan's voice. Learning how to know and discern the Holy Spirit's voice and my own self-conscious voice and then the enemy's voice is hard. We all know the voice of ourselves. It's constantly deciding whose voice to follow. Every minute we have to make a decision: Is this the Holy Spirit's small, still voice speaking to me, or is this my worst enemy, Satan's sneaky voice? You have to decide.

This takes lots of practice- lots of practice for we are both carnal and spiritual people and it's a constant fight to live in the spiritual. We can learn to recognize the enemy's voice- he never says to pray, fast or be faithful to God and Church. Satan's voice always lures your attention away, drawing your mind away to carnal things.

Satan hates it when we learn how to hear God for ourselves and then immediately obey His Holy Spirit. That really ticks him off! The Father is so pleased when we learn to hear God's voice and obey His voice instead of Satan's voice.

GOD'S PURE WATERING HOLES

One could picture us all to be like God's watering hoses that need to be connected up to His Holy Spirit spigot. As we ask, God will turn on His Living Waters that wash out our hoses. This pleases Him as His desire is for us to be pure, clean water to all who come to our hose for a drink.

His pure Living Waters help to wash out all debris and sometimes dead vermin (bad spirits) that crawled up into our unused hose as it lay in a pile on the ground too long. As the water gushes, it flushes, and all the junk must flow out, especially any bad taste of "big shot" feelings of one's self-importance or "small squirt" feelings of low self-esteem or self-pity, and all that "yucky" taste of rubber that collects in a dry hose on a hot day. That's the taste of self-doubt that God can't use us.

The Lord desires to send out His Heavenly Waters through us more and more. Today, He is, by His own hand, connecting up the holy hoses of His saints so the Living Waters of His Holy Spirit can flow through all His people. The Apostle's hose is connected to the Prophet's hose that is connected to the Teacher's hose that connects to the Pastor's hose that is connected to the Evangelist's hose that is connected to the layman's hose- that there might be a more powerful flowing of His LIVING WATERS to flow out daily into a dry and parched, thirsty land.

Surely, Beloved One, we are connected up to Him and to each other. Let Him flow out daily as it pleases Him. Today, He's linking us up worldwide and He's turning on the greatest Holy Spirit flow ever known.

When September 11 came (the Twin Towers in New York were destroyed), my heart was heavy. I wished I had trained up more prophets as they are such compassionate people filled with the Holy Spirit waters that flow out to comfort, edify and heal the hurting people of this world.

I know God is still in control of every minute thing in our lives. As we battle daily wars in our own private lives and win the victory, we come to know and have greater faith that God is entirely in control of the larger battles of world wars that are happening now.

Believe me, God's taking me through the agony and ecstasy of impossible situations, and as I claim victory every day, hour by hour, I know- He's got the whole world completely in His hands. Though we've heard that song over and over, it's really true. I'm totally sure He is in absolute control. After all, He is God. I have a favorite saying lately.

After praising Him for His care, I take a deep breath and say, "Oh, You're so-o-o God! And He really is too much!

Yeh!!! Phyllis

P.S. It pays to always keep your "hose" clean.

PROPHECY - TAKE HOPE, MY CHILD

Take hope, My Child. A new day is dawning for My people. New strength is coming- more effective power. More lives are being cleared of life's debris and healing is coming like never before to all My people. I am going to finish that work I've begun. Jesus has consecrated Himself to finish the work He began in you. The Father will make us fit to share in His wonderful inheritance.

Be encouraged My child. Be lifted up. Let the Lord God be your strength. Lean on Me, My child. My arm will uphold you. Read My Holy Word. My Word will enfold and keep you pure.

I love You

Your Father

PROPHECY - BE FRUITFUL, MY CHILDREN

Be fruitful, My children. Be filled with the fruits of My Spirit. My fruits are love, joy, peace, longsuffering, meekness, kindness, goodness, faith, patience, and temperance. (Self-control)

I will help you, My child to be fruitful, full of My fruits. As you learn to walk with Me day by day, night by night, you will be full of My fruits- tender, juicy fruits of forgiveness, fruits of mercy, wisdom and justness.

You will learn how to play fair and see all things the way your Lord sees things. As you hear from My Spirit talking to your heart, you will learn how to walk in obedience to My Holy Word and be full of My fruits. Go forth, My child, and be full of My fruits and multiply.

Blessed is the man or woman who walks in the counsel of the godly. They shall be like trees planted beside the still waters. Their leaves also shall not wither but bring forth fruit in due season.

I love you

Your Father

PROPHECY - MY PEOPLE FAINT

My people faint for lack of knowledge. If you want to know Me and know My character and love for you, read My precious Holy Word. This is My will and this is "the way" that points to salvation and freedom from pain and sin.

You need not perish for lack of knowledge and wisdom. My Holy Word will teach you and fill you with delight. Delight yourself in the Lord. Commit your ways unto Him and He will give you your heart's desire. I love you so much, My child. Will you love Me and My Holy Word? Will you obey My Holy Word?

You will prosper and be in good health as your soul prospers as you read My Word. Hide the words of the Lord in your heart so you won't sin. Bind My words about thy neck. Let My Word teach you the ways of holiness. My son, My daughter, attend to My words. Eat, sleep, and be the Word. You are each epistles - written by My Spirit.

I love you

Your Father

PROPHECY - KEEP ASKING

Keep asking. Don't neglect to ask Me for everything. My Word has taught you to ask to receive that your joy might be full.

ASK AND BELIEVE; YOU'LL RECEIVE. Keep your visions clear. As one who looks through the long telescope, you see an enlarged picture of something yet far away. Keep looking, keep believing, and keep receiving. Too many times My people give up and faint. They forget to look at the long view ahead. Each one of you are being prepared for a much greater work ahead. You would faith if you knew what's coming.

You shall have the story of My glory working through your family's inner lives. My Spirit leads you on tenderly, with gentle surprises. I will work miracles in each life. Expect Me to work the miracle. You need not work them; just believe in them. Relax; enjoy a sweet peace and rest.

PROPHECY- BEAUTY IN BEING THANKFUL

There is beauty in being thankful. The Lord loves a cheerful and thankful heart. Has He not promised you and did He not make His promises true to you? Pray and believe, thanking Him for the answer. Your answer may not come as soon as you might want it, but your answer will come in the Lord's timing. Ask Me your heart's desire, My child, for many times I put My heart's desire into your heart so you won't ask amiss.

I love you so much, My child. You are special to Me. I give good gifts to those I love and those who serve Me with a whole heart. Man looketh on the outside, but I see the secret heart. I didn't send My Son to the earth to condemn the earth, but that through Him, all people on the earth might be saved.

I love you

Your Father

PROPHECY - BE MORE PATIENT WITH YOURSELF

Be more patient with yourself. I am patient with the way you are growing. Nothing happens overnight- but bit by bit. I am changing you to be more like My Son Jesus. It is My job to make you fit to share in the wonderful inheritance of the Lord. You can't make yourself over. You can't change a thing by yourself, but with Me as your Partner, you can do all things as I strengthen your walk.

Be still and know that I am the Lord God working in your life. I am chipping away at the rocks of contention and bitterness hidden deep beneath the surface. I am shaping and molding Me a man or woman after My own Son. I will split off the rocks that hinder the finishing of My masterpiece. I am taking the chips off your shoulders.

Don't even look for them, but rest in Me and allow Me to do the shaping and finishing. It all takes time- but we have time. I have consecrated My Son to finish you up. He loves you and will shape you according to His best plan and purpose.

I love you, My child

Your Heavenly Father

PRAYER OF SALVATION

Dear One Reading This,

If you have never experienced the joy and the peace of knowing Someone who loves you absolutely, unconditionally for yourself, I invite you to know my Jesus. He's the great Prince of Peace and the Lord of lords. Please receive Him into your heart, your life, and whole being.

It's so wonderful to trust Someone and know that He will never leave you nor forsake you.

Jesus was born to be our Savior and He didn't come into the world to condemn us; but through Him, we might be saved and be made into a new person. He's the only One I know Who can forgive all my sins; and Beloved, when He forgives, He forgets - and we can start over brand new. Beloved, just receive His love, His salvation right now.

JUST SAY THIS PRAYER:

Jesus, come and capture my heart, heal my body, and touch my soul and spirit. Lord, as Your Spirit connects with my spirit, I can let go of all the hurts and bitterness. I forgive all who have used and abused me and I thank You, dear Lord, for forgiving me just at this moment. I've let go, Lord, just as You told Phyllis to let go in her personal prophecy - and now, I'm secure that You are my Lord and I am Your child.

Here's my whole heart, Lord, I know I can trust You with it. Thank You for healing my broken heart, my broken spirit, my broken body.

Thank You for taking my all on that cruel cross that day You died for me, and thank You for resurrecting me into a new life. Oh, what a joy to have You as my dear, dear Friend and Savior now. Thank You, Lord, I am part of Your family in earth and I've inherited life everlasting and all the attributes of Your nature and character.

I love You, Lord Jesus.

DECLARATION OF MY NEW LIFE AND NEW LOVE

Right now, I receive You, Lord Jesus, as my precious Savior:

Date: _____

Right now, I am aware of my Heavenly Father's love and care for me. Right now, I am learning how to be led by the dear Holy Spirit daily. I know I can do all things because the Father, Son and Holy Spirit fill my life.

Amen and Amen!
